Autumn: A time for inoculation?

Rev Rob Anning, Superintendent Minister, writes:

Autumn is most definitely here. The trees along Queensway have been spectacular, their colours shouting to passers by “look at me”. We have experienced the first frosts, and evenings and mornings are often tinged with mist. John Keats was right: It is indeed a “Season of mists and mellow fruitfulness”.

It is also a season for preparing for winter. Making sure the pipes are lagged, doing those final few jobs in the garden before the ground begins to freeze, ensuring we have anti-freeze in the radiator. And in recent years, making sure you get the 'flu jab if you are of the age to qualify. We hope that each year, the inoculation will include those strains of 'flu which are most likely to hit us.

I took the cat in for her “cat 'flu jab” just recently but I won't qualify for the human version until next year. But it hasn't stopped me thinking about it and “jabs” in general.

The Methodist Church sees it's calling in four main areas: 1. To increase awareness of God's presence and to celebrate God's love. 2. To help people to grow and learn as Christians, through mutual support and care. 3. To be a good neighbour to people in need and to challenge injustice. 4. To make more followers of Jesus Christ.

We are pretty good at the first three but we find the fourth area, of making more followers of Jesus, the most difficult. A recent video produced by the Methodist Church for use in encouraging “faith sharing” follows the theme of “pass it on”. And that's what brings me back to inoculation and “jabs”.

Sometimes I think as Christians we have taken the health advice a bit too far. It is almost as if we see our faith as something that shouldn't be passed on, that should be kept to ourselves, and others wouldn't appreciate catching it. Almost as though our faith was like 'flu!

And equally, for all kinds of reasons, we often find those we try to share our faith with have been “inoculated against Christianity” by their past experiences, or our history, or issues raised in the news. And this in itself makes “passing it on” really difficult.

I think part of the answer to our dilemma is found in Paul's first letter to the Corinthians, chapter nine, when he talks about adapting himself to whoever he is with.

"I become all things to all people, that I may save some of them by whatever means are possible". In other words, we need to consider carefully those to whom we want to "pass on" the message; get to know them first, their interests, their language, their way of living, and then "passing it on" is likely to be more successful.

I do find it strange just how good we are at gossiping; how quickly a piece of news, good or bad, can get around. And yet we are so poor and reluctant to share the "good news" of our faith by simply "gossiping it" with those we meet.

So this winter, keep the 'flu to yourself – but don't do the same with your faith: pass it on!

CIRCUIT SUPPER CLUB

The Circuit Supper Club meets on Thursday, 22nd November at 7 for 7.30 pm at Marlborough Road Methodist Church when the speaker is Andrew Harter and Mrs Harter entitled 'Educating the uneducationalable'. We shall hear about the formation and work of their special School for children with behavioural problems and they will touch on their work with ex prisoners.

The menu by our new caterers will be "Beef stew with dumplings, roasted potatoes and seasonal vegetables, followed by lemon syllabub with a homemade shortbread biscuit".

Please book with David Hughes (contact steward or see paper copy for contact details) by Monday evening 19th November at the latest with any special dietary needs. All are very welcome.

Please note the Supper Club for 24th January has had to be changed to Thursday, 31st January.

HINTON METHODIST & ST MARY'S CHURCH COFFEE MORNINGS WOODFORD HALSE

Hinton Methodist Church, Woodford Halse invites you all to come and join us on Saturday 8th December 2012

From 10.00am to 12.00pm.

There will be tea, coffee and biscuits/cake as well as a very friendly welcome. As we will be raising funds for our Church we will be making a small charge for the drinks and eats. There will be a stall for you to purchase items and you might find that Christmas present to give. So come along and meet up with the friendly team and even meet new people and make new friends. If you do not have a car, the buses do run on Saturday, the 200 bus leaves Banbury Bus Station at 15 minutes past the hour travelling through Wardington, Chipping Warden and Byfield before reaching Woodford Halse. Ask for Hinton Green; the bus stop is right outside the Church. The bus back to Banbury leaves Hinton Green, Woodford Halse, at about 35 minutes past the hour, the last one leaving at 6.55 pm, so giving you time to explore the village and shops in our village. We look forward to seeing you there on Saturday 8th December.

HINTON CAROL SERVICE

Hinton Methodist Church, Woodford Halse invites you all to come and join us at 10.30 am on Sunday 9th December 2012 to sing carols. The service is followed by tea, coffee and biscuits.

HORNTON

We had a very successful harvest festival with Rev Janet and afterwards enjoyed a lovely lunch. On 17th November we are holding a soup lunch from 12 until 2 pm with Christmas stalls. Do come and join us if you can. The Macmillan coffee morning raised £210.00, a very good effort. Our Friday coffee mornings continue as normal, 10.30 – 12 call in for coffee, cake and a chat. Back in July we had a very happy wedding with a full congregation and we are looking forward to 4th November when we have a baptism service with Rev Janet. Congratulations to Jean and Isabel on becoming worship leaders and to Michael and Isabel for becoming members of our Church.
